Following the severe outbreak of the novel coronavirus, Art Basel and MCH made the difficult decision to cancel the 2020 edition of Art Basel Hong Kong. The next edition of Art Basel in Hong Kong will take place from March 25-27, 2021.

Art Basel launched the Online Viewing Rooms, the new digital initiative will run in parallel to the shows – rather than replacing the physical experience of an art fair – and will allow gallerists to showcase additional curated exhibitions of works not presented at the fair. For its first iteration, however, the concept has been adapted to allow exhibitors to present works intended for the cancelled Art Basel Hong Kong 2020. All galleries that were accepted to the 2020 Hong Kong show were invited to participate at no cost for the first edition.
The inaugural edition of Art Basel’s Online Viewing Rooms featured presentations by 235 galleries and more than 2,000 works. Over the course of seven days, the first iteration attracted more than 250,000 visitors from around the globe, allowing galleries to meet and engage with new collectors during this challenging time, as well as reconnecting with existing clients via the platform.
